Miners who Refuse to Mine Become Eligible For Army Duty

RULE HITS ALL ESSENTIAL WORK

Lewis Silent After F. D. R. Orders Unionists Back To the Pits

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 4.—President Roosevelt, who has ordered John L. Lewis' striking coal miners back to work Monday, laid down today as a simple rule that a man who quits essential work thereupon becomes liable for army service.

He brought up this phase of the coal controversy himself at a press conference, without saying whether he has any drastic work-or-fight order in mind.

Meanwhile, nothing but silence came from Lewis, whose hold on BERN, Switzerland, June 4.—Berlin circles are watching the American coal strike with great interest, writes the Zurich Die Tat, believing that whatever measures President Roosevelt takes will be an indication of his strength.

The Nazi press, however, was said to be commenting but little on the strike and to be "guarding against exaggerated hopes."

his so-far personally loyal miners faces a real test in view of the President's order.

First, Mr. Roosevelt was asked whether troop protection would be provided for those miners who refused to get back to work. He did not try to comment on that, he said. He hoped, he said, that the miners would go back Monday.

Nothing New About Law Then, without any further questioning, the chief executive said there has been a good deal written about the induction of miners into the army. He commented that there was nothing startling or new about that and that the rule is a simple one and applies to all, not only the miners.

Mr. Roosevelt went on to say that if anyone is deferred because he is engaged in an occupation essential to the war, he normally remains deferred as long as he continues to work.

But as soon as he stops work, he steps that work for the nation, and then becomes liable for army service, the President said.

A great deal, he said, had been unnecessarily made of that feature in the newspapers.

Asked about those miners who have dependents, the President said they would be treated just like everyone else.

To a question whether alien laws might be invoked to deal with the strikers, the President replied he did not understand what was meant. He added that aliens are inducted and the same rules are applied to them as to citizens.

SHOT IN DEFENSE, SAYS REDMELOVICH

Canton Man's Murder Hearing Expected To Close Today

LISBON, June 4.—William Redmelovich, of Canton, 56-year old naturalized Serbian, a former Salem resident, who is charged with fatally shooting Frank Ulrich, 34, in Salem May 5, testified yesterday that he shot Ulrich when the latter rolled up his sleeves and said "I'm going to fix you."

The suspect declared he didn't aim to hit Ulrich. "I just fired," he said.

After the shooting, which occurred at the home of Mrs. Raymond Lee Porter, rear of 448 Acta st., where Ulrich roomed, Redmelovich said he made three trips to the mayor's office at Salem to give himself up, but that upon each call found the office closed. He finally managed to find Chief Ralph Stoffer and surrendered, he said.

Closing Arguments Today

Closing arguments were expected to be presented today by the state and defense counsel, with Judge Joel H. Sharp probably charging the jury late today. A verdict is possible by nightfall.

Redmelovich, who again took the witness stand this morning, said yesterday that when he moved to Canton he rented his property to Mrs. Porter through a real estate agency. Later, when he called upon his new tenants he was invited in and shown about the house by the man he later learned was Frank Ulrich, and was surprised when Ulrich spoke to him in the Serbian tongue.

He said Ulrich showed dresses and hats which he had bought "wife," indicating Mrs. Frances Porter, Redmelovich said he told Ulrich he was not interested in what he bought the woman, but wanted to see the condition of the house. He said he found the wallpaper and plaster cracked, a cellar window broken, and the fire

OHIOAN SURVIVES 23 DAYS ON OCEAN

LONDON, June 4.—Robert R. Bowman, 25, seaman first class, of East Portsmouth, O., was one of 10 survivors who drifted 23 days in the Atlantic in a 22-foot lifeboat after their merchant vessel was torpedoed.

Ronald J. Hurley, 21, of Sioux Falls, S. D., a navy signalman, kept a record of the grueling trip on strips of cardboard ripped from a packing case. The men navigated 650 miles through storms with an error of only 15 miles in calculation. An 11th man died and was buried at sea.

The men were picked up by a Portuguese fishing boat which took them to Lisbon. Later they arrived here by air. Seven of the survivors were officers and the others U. S. Navy men.

RAF Unloads Block-busters; Yanks Maintain Day-light Attacks

(By Associated Press) ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 4.—British warships have bombarded the Italian fortress island of Pantelleria for the third and fourth times this week, hurling shells into the harbor and battery areas, it was announced today.

Both Wednesday night and Thursday morning the big ships stood off and pounded the rocky island in duplication of their double assaults at the start of the week. There was some slight return fire from Italian batteries, but as in the two previous attacks the British naval units were reported to have suffered no damage or casualties.

Bombard day and night by American and RAF planes in the air siege, Pantelleria's shore gunners could reply but weakly as the British ships raked their emplacements.

Drop Block-busters

An Allied announcement disclosed that RAF Wellington bombers battered the island outpost Monday and Tuesday nights and on the latter date also delivered a block-busting raid on the damaged port of Naples. Two-ton bombs exploded on the Naples industrial area and among the docks and "many were seen to burst among plants and port buildings," it was stated.

Besides block-busters—each capable of leveling a city block—the twin-engine Wellingtons dropped other types of high explosives on the vital Italian shipping center. The Wellingtons encountered no fighter opposition either over Naples or Pantelleria, striking evidence of the depleted state of Axis defenses.

(CBS said the Moscow radio quoted Swiss dispatches as reporting that all foreign newspaper reporters, including even those from Axis countries, have been forbidden to enter Naples. It added that correspondents of neutral countries were allowed only in Rome and Milan.)

Army's Newest Gun, Light and Vicious, Proving Its Worth

By HAROLD C. MCKINLEY (By Associated Press)

PORT CLINTON, June 4.—The bee-bee gun, a toy with which most American boys have ridden empty tomato cans, provided ordnance and industrial gun designing with the idea for one of the army's newest weapons.

The firearm—a vicious little 30-caliber carbine combining lightness, fire-power and a maximum range of 2,000 yards—was demonstrated to newsmen for the first time today by the war department's Cleveland ordnance district. Production now is nearing full scale at the Standard Products Co.'s plant in this Lake Erie town.

The carbine is a short-barreled rifle, only 36 inches long. Like the bee-bee gun, it weighs less than six pounds, including sling and cartridge clip. That's about three pounds lighter than the newer Garand.

Unlike the air rifle, it spits 15 slugs from one clip with deadly accuracy. The velocity of its bullets at 53 feet from the muzzle is 1,900 feet per second, ranking next to the larger Garand rifle's 2,675 feet per second.

"In combat, it has been the best weapon for the individual ever turned out," says Col. Forrest C. Shaffer, commanding officer of nearby Erie Proving Ground.

"The carbine is especially good for jungle fighting. A soldier can carry four or five times as much ammunition for this gun as he can for the garand. It's very effective at short range, having greater accuracy than the 45-caliber pistol which is handled expertly by only a few men at ranges over 50 feet."

The new weapon rapidly is replacing the 45-caliber pistol as a standard sidearm, the colonel says. Dozens of the men and women assembling the gun are fathers, mothers, wives, sisters or sweethearts of 32 port clinton men captured or killed with General MacArthur's 192nd tank battalion on Bataan.

YOUTH KILLED AS TRUCK HITS "BIKE"

Unity Lad, 15, Is Victim of Accident Six Miles East of Columbiana

Columbiana county's first summer traffic fatality occurred at 10:15 a. m. today on Route 14, near Unity, when Howard Simons, 15, of Unity, rode his bicycle in front of a truck and was killed almost instantly.

Revolt Said to be Aimed at Reversal of "Neutral Policy"

BULLETIN

(By Associated Press) BUENOS AIRES, June 4.—General Pedro Ramirez, leader of a revolt against the government of President Ramon S. Castillo, entered Government house in downtown Buenos Aires this afternoon amid shouts of "Long live democracy!" and "long live freedom!"

These cries rose from crowds gathered in the famous Plaza de Mayo, before Government house, which contains the presidential offices abandoned by Castillo.

They gave an uproarious welcome to Ramirez, who had been war minister in Castillo's government. The afternoon newspaper issued a special edition bearing the streamer headline "Triumphant Revolution."

(By Associated Press) MONTEVIDEO, June 4.—President Ramon Castillo of Argentina proclaimed over the Buenos Aires radio today that his government had been forced to transfer its seat to an Argentine warship as revolting army forces entered the capital.

All Argentine radios interrupted their programs to transmit Castillo's proclamation which said he had ousted Minister of War General Pedro Ramirez and put Gen. Rodolfo Marquez in his place.

The message called on the people for "most absolute cooperation to nullify the subversive movement headed by the former minister of war."

Castillo then asked the population to obey Marquez as the head of "the legal forces."

"The government has been forced to transfer its seat to a navy warship."

"It is ready to assure the stability of national institutions."

"I will not consent to the installation of a government by force which does not respect the popular will of the country."

AN EMERGENCY, NOT A THEORY

Management has been so much in evidence on the home front that stoppage of coal production seems to be only another fumble. But it is vastly more than that.

It is a national and an international emergency, affecting the prospect of United Nations victory. Nothing could be sillier than to think of it as an ordinary strike.

The high rate of coal consumption in wartime causes a stoppage of production to be felt immediately in steel mills. All coal users are affected to some degree. Railroads, already working to capacity, will be jammed up with extra coal to haul when the miners go back to work. In an over-strained, tense war economy every dislocation is transmitted immediately to all parts of the production machinery. In an international conflict, moreover, the repercussions are felt everywhere.

The immediate need is coal. The government's first job is to get the miners back on their jobs. Production is the only possible reply that can be made to the United States fighting men who want to know what is wrong at home—why their risks are being multiplied by a stoppage of anything as vital as coal. Whatever needs to be done to get the miners to work must be done without delay.

One solution might be to lodge a few charges of sedition, but that is the least likely to be tried. The existing government is reaping enough of a whirlwind from its belief that only union leaders could do no wrong without calling for a final showdown.

RELIEF FOR THE CUFFED

The philosophers among us who refused to believe it mattered whether men's pants had cuffs or didn't are vindicated. It didn't matter a whoop. It was just one more idea spawned in the big idea hatchery in Washington; somehow it was washed up on shore; somehow the rumor got started that it would help win the war and—hisk—the cuffs were off.

The philosophers snickered. They kept on snickering when new suits began to appear without cuffs and laughed out loud when some old ones began to appear that way, too. Never for a moment did they doubt that time and the vagaries of Washington would bring them relief for their old-fashioned cuffed pants.

So now they are back in style. Henceforth they can accuse the cuffless of wearing last year's suit while pointing to their own gray-stained and threadbare models dating back to the depression years as the height of fashion. It now becomes the turn of the cuffless to be philosophical. What Washington has taken away and given back it can take away again.

THE FAMOUS COUNTRY DOCTOR

Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, the famous country doctor, has died, with many good deeds and a widely useful life in his honor.

Like thousands of his kind, he took to heart his professional obligation to work tirelessly in behalf of the ailing. It meant extra work, extra kindnesses, extra satisfaction in the career he had chosen.

When he became famous, through no fault of his own, he helped to raise the prestige of country doctors in general by showing himself to be a man of abundant good sense and sound training. Though he gained international prominence, he continued to be what he was essentially—a general practitioner who had been thrust into the limelight.

If sometimes the impression got into circulation that the Dionne quintuplets, who made him famous, were obligated to him for being famous, themselves, that must be blamed on the inevitable distortions of too much publicity. Due, perhaps, to his skill, the quintuplets survived the first few hours of their life. Aside from that, he was chiefly important as the country doctor who looked after them and their family and a lot of other families in the North Bay, Ont., region. If there had been no quintuplets there still would have been Dr. Dafeo, and he would have been just as good a country doctor. And, as such things go, there probably would have been the Dionne quintuplets without Dr. Dafeo.

TEMPERANCE BY NECESSITY

Recollections of the theories that had a big inning when prohibition was being eased out are stirred by statistics showing the effect of higher federal taxes and the liquor scarcity on sale of wines.

Due in large part to their increasing popularity, revenues from sales of all alcoholic beverages still are increasing, though tax receipts show important increases in the sale of beer. But wine taxes lead the gain, with an increase of 51.4 per cent for 1942 over 1940. In January, February and March of this year, wine taxes rose by 65, 85 and 75 per cent in comparison to these months in 1940.

The Federation of Tax Administrators, which made the study showing the trend toward wine, draws no conclusions and explains that its statistics include only 20 states, because the 16 states with state-controlled liquor systems do not levy a tax on wine and 10 others do not separate wine tax receipts from gross receipts. However, on the sampling theory, it is safe to assume that necessity is doing what good intentions failed to do at the outset of the present experiment with alcohol beverage control. It is converting many consumers from beverages with high alcoholic content to wine and beer, which were the cornerstones for what was to have been the new era of temperance.

BETTER THAN FEARED

Official casualty reports covering United States operations in Tunisia do not bear out the ominous warnings that the public should be prepared to pay a heavy price for the North African victory.

A total of 18,558 casualties, including 6,937 missing and 9,437 wounded to 2,184 dead, may be heavy in relation to the number of men in action, but it is not as bad as had been expected after official warnings.

The confusion thus caused suggests that it might be better from now on for government spokesmen to refrain from implications of unusual losses before they are prepared to publish official casualty lists. Unavoidably, the families of all fighting men on a particular front are inclined to suspect the worst when it appears they are being prepared for news that may not be nearly so bad as their imaginations made it in advance.

LOOSE END

Final formalities for collecting income taxes on current earning power at the source are being rushed through congress. As far as anyone knows, the new system will begin on July 1 for most wage earners.

During the congressional argument, treasury officials were quoted to the effect that unless the legislation was passed on a given day, early in May, it wouldn't do any good to pass it at all because they couldn't set up the machinery to collect withholding taxes by July 1 anyway. This loose end in the wild that went on in congress never was tied down.

However, when the majority party finally put its weight behind a compromise bill the loose end just disappeared.

THE FIRST 100,000 OF WORLD WAR II

ROYAL AIR FORCE RAIDS have just passed the 100,000-ton mark in total weight of explosives dropped on the continent of Europe since the war began. More than a goodly number of the bombs have struck vital war industries in German cities, some of which are shown on this map. But, according to Air Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris, chief of the R. A. F. Bomber Command, this tremendous record of destruction was only "chickentime." "The next 100,000 tons," he adds, "will be even bigger and better bombs, delivered more accurately and in a much shorter period of time." New raids bear him out. (International)

CAUSES OF CHEST PAINS VARY

Clendening Discusses "Heart Attack"

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
"A LITTLE learning is a dangerous thing." Upon what important inspired moment did Pope coin that eternal truth? Nobody is more aware of this than the practicing physician. Nowadays

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

everyone seems to have learned a little medical knowledge. There are several hot subjects for the amateur self-diagnosticians, but none more pertinent than angina pectoris—pain in the chest, heart pang. The medical profession has been discussing it avidly for the last few years, and this has filtered out to all strata of society.

Any business man who falls dead on the golf links has had a "heart attack." In fact, anyone over the age of 30 who dies suddenly at all, unless at the hands of the common hangman, died of a heart attack. It may be one of a thousand things—apoplexy, heat stroke, embolism, lymphaticism; but for the sidewalk diagnosticians it is just labeled "heart attack."

Effect on Living
This does no harm to the victim but for us, the living, it may have very sad and troublesome consequences. If the taking-off is on the golf links, as mentioned, the other three members of the foursome within the following week develop vague pains around the heart and seek advice from a practitioner who solemnly takes the blood pressure, does an electrocardiogram and makes a pronouncement.

It is a credit to the essential honesty of the medical profession that most of these announcements are reassuring. In these days when the conversational atmosphere is filled with "heart attacks," anybody, any time, may develop premonitory symptoms of dissolution. If he falls into the hands of an even mildly unscrupulous practitioner, he is putty in these hands. He can get the liver and lights scared out of him as thoroughly and rapidly as is ever possible to do so.

I had an instance of this the other day. An old friend of mine had been having some heart pain and had sought advice and was told that the third lead in the electrocardiogram was "suspicious" and that his tonsils should come out. He asked me to check up and even I could tell that his symptoms were not those of angina.

The pain was not pain, but a sensation of awareness, it was continuous, it did not radiate, it wasn't in the right place. The stethoscopic examination of his heart was all right, and the third lead in the electrocardiogram was pronounced by our hospital expert to be normal. His tonsils could not be found at all, although we sent an exploring expedition after them.

Case Histories

I am induced to bring this subject up by the perusal of an article in a medical journal, just come to hand, which related the case histories of a number of people who complained of angina pectoris when the real trouble was a slight injury in the ligaments of the neck—many of them induced by so slight a thing as the sudden jerking when an automobile started. The crick in the neck was referred to the chest, in the heart region.

Already mentioned in this column is the "slipping rib cartilage syndrome," which is another mechanical bony disorder, simulating angina.

Other imitators are pleurodynia, fatigue syndrome, shingles, radiculitis from spinal arthritis, pleurisy, pericardial rub.

Questions and Answers

S. D.:—You recently recommended Elixir Terpin Hydrate and Codeine for coughing. I have to sign for it at a drug store and wonder whether there is a habit-forming drug, but not in the amount present in this mixture, as is shown by the fact that it can be obtained without a doctor's prescription. The dosage is one teaspoonful four to eight times a day, as needed.

UNSKILLED LABOR
WAGE RATE FIXED

WLB Won't Approve Increases Above 70 Cents
An Hour

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 4.—The regional War Labor board announced today it would not approve wage increases above 70 cents an hour for common unskilled labor in seven leading Ohio industrial cities.

The figure was established as a tentative "minimum sound and tested going rate" for such labor—except that employed in retail, wholesale and service establishments—in Youngstown, Toledo, Dayton, Akron, Canton, Warren and Cleveland.

The Columbus maximum was set at 65 cents; the top for Cincinnati and the neighboring Kentucky cities of Covington and Newport at 60 cents, and the Louisville rate 55 cents. Figures for West Virginia and other parts of Ohio and Kentucky will be set "as soon as possible," the WLB announced. "As to retail, wholesale and service establishments, the regional board will continue to use a rate of 50 cents for the time being, except in Kentucky, where a 45 cents rate has been set."

The rates were announced in an opinion concerning a Cleveland processor of scrap glass. The WLB explained that under former Economic Stabilization Director Byrnes'
May 12 directive, clarifying the "hold-the-line" executive order of April 8, an adjustments may not be made beyond "minimum sound and tested going rates" for particular occupational groups in specified labor areas except in rare and unusual cases.

"The regional board is in the process of establishing brackets of minimum and maximum 'sound and tested going rates' by occupational groups and labor market areas," the WLB continued. "All rates within these brackets will be regarded as stabilized rates, not subject to change save as permitted by the little steel formula."

"The Byrnes directive points out that the wage brackets are being established in order to provide clear-cut guides and definite limits as a basis for permitting the board to make, within existing price structure and with existing levels of production costs, minimum non-inflationary adjustments which are deemed necessary to 'aid the effective prosecution of the war or to correct gross inequalities,'" the regional WLB stated.

BUSINESS GROUP HEARS GOV. BRICKER

U. S. Must Recapture Spirit Of Private Enterprise, Is Warning

(By Associated Press) ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 4.—Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, mentioned as 1944 Republican presidential timber, told the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce today the United States must recapture the spirit of private enterprise after the war.

"Individual initiative must be regained, inventive and creative genius must have its reward," he said in a prepared talk. "Business men must lead that program. Public officials and organized government can help. The American people must be aroused to that need."

The Ohio governor asserted also that after the conflict considerable government property should be returned to private ownership.

"Billions of dollars of government money have been invested in the war program in plants and machinery but in a practical and conservative way this must be put in the hands of private management."

"In my judgment the public interest does not and will not under our constitutional system require government competition with private business, using the taxpayers' money to destroy his own opportunities."

"Regulation is consistent with the constitutional structure. Government ownership in competition with private business is not. This country can not live and prosper part socialist and part capitalist."

"We are fighting this war not for social reform in this country or to change the kind of government, but to preserve the system under which we have built so mightily."

Bricker also asserted censorship of news should be limited to war matters.

"A dangerous step has been made toward the destruction of the bill of rights in denying the American people and enforcing that denial by our armed forces the facts revealed at the food conference at White Sulphur Springs," Bricker said.

Pottery Hearing At End; Report Filed

A three-member War Labor board panel yesterday completed a hearing at Canton on differences between the United States Pottery association and 18,000 members of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters (A. F. of L.) employed by companies in the association.

The hearing opened Thursday morning in the Stark county courthouse on issues of wages, vacations, premium pay and training schools.

Potters involved are in Ohio, West Virginia and Tennessee.

Members of the panel said that they would make a recommendation, based on their findings, to the regional WLB in Cleveland.

Members of the panel were Chairman Bert E. Froehde, an insurance agent and public member; C. T. Dougherty, secretary and treasurer of the Canton Malleable Iron Co. and industry member; and J. Edwin Witmer, secretary of the Canton Federation of Labor (A. F. of L.) and labor representative.

NEW LABOR MEASURE GATHERS SUPPORT

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Strong support gathered in the house today behind an administration move to aim new labor legislation specifically at the coal mine strike.

Drafted by Democratic whip Ramspeck of Georgia as a substitute for the more far-reaching Smith-Conally bill, the administration proposal would confront leaders of strikes in government-operated industries, such as the coal mines, with a fine of $5,000 and a year in prison.

While it would apply to any industry operated by the government, Ramspeck said, it was aimed particularly at the coal strike. Settlement of that walkout, he added, would not remove the need for its enactment.

The measure would not interfere with the right of an individual to leave his work or to refuse to return to it, but it would provide a fine and imprisonment for anyone instigating or inducing an interruption of work in a government-operated plant, adding in a lockout, or furnishing funds for a continuance of a work stoppage.

Other provisions seek to strengthen the war labor board and underline the President's authority to seize strike-bound industries.

Four hours of heated debate yesterday failed to produce a vote on any of the several pending measures and left the house in a parliamentary snarl that finally forced adjournment.

While hopeful of a final vote today, leaders on both sides said there was a possibility a decision would not be reached before Monday, the day miners have been requested by President Roosevelt to return to their jobs.

Operation Permits New Throat Study

(By International News Service) MEMPHIS, Tenn.—In one of the most unusual operations ever recorded in Memphis, moving pictures of the throat region behind the palate have been made, showing the action of muscles used in speaking.

The removal of a sinus tumor from the forehead of a Negro patient at a local hospital made possible this first opportunity for medical men to make such a study of parts of the head heretofore hidden.

According to doctors, the patient, 63-year-old Carter Braxton, is improving rapidly from the delicate operation which left a large cavity in his skull.

When he was admitted to the hospital, the tumor had grown extremely large despite several operations previously to stop the growth. It was learned after this operation that most of the sinuses had been destroyed along with the bone structure that protects the base of the brain.

As a result of pressure against the brain, indentations were caused but authorities say the cavity will gradually heal.

The patient does not suffer any pain except when the sinuses are cleaned. He can eat, talk and walk around the ward.

Hundreds of physicians have examined the case which marks a great step in medical knowledge.

There are nearly 6,000,000 victory gardens in the British Isles.

YOUNGSTOWN AREA MADE NEW DIOCESE

Auxiliary Bishop James A. McFadden Placed In Charge

(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND, June 4.—Auxiliary Bishop James A. McFadden, revered chancellor of the Cleveland Catholic diocese since 1925, prepared today to assume spiritual leadership of the newly created Youngstown diocese.

Establishment of the new diocese was announced in Washington last night by Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States. The district is composed of six of the 14 counties previously included in the Cleveland diocese—Ashtabula, Columbiana, Trumbull, Portage, Mahoning and Stark.

St. Columbias church in Youngstown was made the cathedral of the new see, which serves an area with a population of 700,000 to 800,000. The six counties have 98 Catholic churches and 140 priests whose status in the new diocese will remain unchanged.

Informing of the announcement from Washington, Bishop McFadden said: "I am very happy to hear that news. I have nothing that I can say now about when I will go to Youngstown."

The prelate said he would confer with Archbishop Joseph Schrepps and Coadjutor Edward E. Hoban of the Cleveland diocese before announcing further plans.

SYNOPSIS
Beautiful Ann Foster was worried when she learned the sales force at "Marks-Park Avenue" was to be reduced after the Christmas holidays. Julia, her practical minded sister, an airline stewardess on the New York-Miami run, persistently encourages her to marry wealthy Vince Ogden, but Ann does not love him. At their small apartment she is greeted by Vince and Julia in festive holiday mood. Forgetting her worries, Ann joins Vince and Julia on a tour of the night spots. The following day at LaGuardia Airport, Julia introduces Ann to Jim Brent, handsome pilot officer en route to Florida to train cadets. Later, Ann is offered the opportunity to work at the Miami Beach branch of "Marks-Park Avenue." Vince, whose yacht, "The Pelican," is moored off Miami, accompanies her on the South-bound train.

CHAPTER THREE
Julia and Ann rented a tiny apartment not far from Lincoln Avenue and the store. Julia was off duty from Friday nights until Sunday. It was an ideal arrangement.

After discreet inquiry, Ann learned that the handsome Pilot-Officer Jim Brent was not at Opa-Locka. And she was disappointed.

It was hard work at the store. But the evenings were fun. The weeks went pleasantly by. Her cough entirely disappeared. Vince gave parties on his yacht. She met new people.

A new opportunity came to her when one of the blonde models at the store quit her job to be married, and the manager selected Ann to take her place. This meant some preliminary training in posture, but Ann—who had bloomed into full health and increased beauty in the warm climate—soon caught on. She developed all the little tricks and graces of the trained model.

The manager, well pleased, was soon sending her to show off the store's loveliest gowns and outfits at the races, at smart gatherings in the hotels, at nightclubs, at fashionable benefits for the Red Cross, at cetera. Miami Beach admired the lovely Ann....

When one day she received an invitation from the rich and socially prominent Mrs. Avery Willard to a War Relief tea at her ocean-front mansion, Ann knew she had achieved success here. Nor did it lessen her anticipation when she learned that Jim Brent was to be at the party. He had returned to Opa-Locka!

Ann swung into her rhumba with Hank Bruger like a spring breeze. It seemed as though everyone who lined Mrs. Avery Willard's great double drawing room six-deep paused in their gossip and cocktail-drinking to watch her.

You had to admit that Ann, now groomed to the ultimate, was one of the loveliest things that had ever graced the floor. Which meant plenty, since the vast Louis XVth salon certainly had seen some shindigs since the start of the season, and this—for the War Relief—was tops.

In her Royal Air Force gown, superlatively cut to show every curve of her lissom figure (Marks-Park Avenue's head designer had done her proud), and with Vince Ogden's orchids cascading from her shoulder, Ann and her partner were an eye-ful, plus.

You also had to admit that if Miami Beach masculinity had the well-known gleam in its eye for Ann, the supposed gentler sex, particularly around the forties, were at least some of them—looking avidly at her partner.

Sleek, elegant, utterly poised, and the best exponent of the rhumba in Miami Beach, Hank was a panic with the feminine contingent, and the heck what the men thought of him.

As they moved superbly to the passionate tempo of the music, he gazed at Ann with smoldering eyes. She was amused, knowing it was done for effectiveness. Under the professional smile of the trained model, she whispered, wickedly: "Save it for the old gals! I'm made of asbestos!"

This performance ended to loud applause.

Almost as tall as her partner in her high heels, Ann wafted herself with ineffable grace across the floor to Mrs. Avery Willard, her hostess, whose hand was immediately seized and kissed by Hank.

For the split second before Jim Brent looked away, and the men surged round Ann, her violet-blue eyes met and were held by the measuring gaze of the darkly handsome Jim who had been talking to the hostess.

She realized, in that brief moment, that though he was deeply bronzed, he had the most vivid gray eyes. Eyes that were arresting, not only for their contrast to his tanned face, their depth of setting, but the expression in them. It was as though a hundred thoughts flashed through them, as those eyes met Ann's.

In turn, wasn't it the queerest thing in the world that, for a girl as popular and lovely as she, a thrill—an unmistakable thrill—should run to her ten fingers and apple-blossom skin should deepen, and her heart beat faster, and her coolly moved out of her orbit, and away?

"Darling!" murmured Vince Ogden, who had several champagne cocktails already put away. "You danced like a moonbeam—like a dream—like Cleopatra!"

"When she leaped out of that carpet and danced before Caesar!" Ann laughed.

Everybody laughed, too, for the idea of Vince Ogden being compared to mighty Caesar was too funny. Indeed, because of his rather quaint appearance, and his fortune inherited from the soup of that name, Vince had been nicknamed "the Turtle."

He grinned good-naturedly. "I'd sooner be Cleopatra's other boyfriend—Mark Anthony, who distinguished himself—"

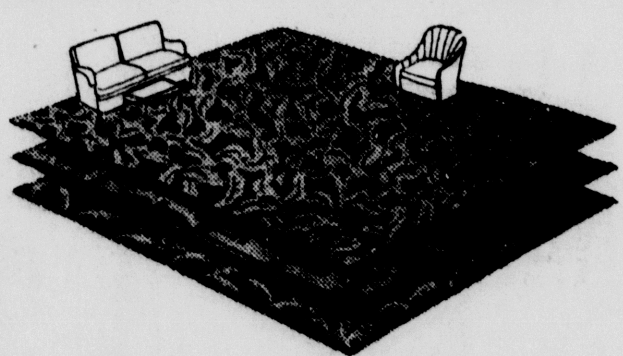

"By getting tight—looting, plundering and dissipating!" Ann, who was up in history, finished still laughing.

Julia cut in. Ann's elder sister was practical-minded. She said to Ann now, rather sharply: "Cleopatra knew how to handle men, anyway. She was always kind to them."

Ann knew what Julia meant by that. It had the earmark of: "Make hay while the sun shines!" Julia wanted Ann to marry Vince, and the heck with romantic notions. Being a stewardess on an airliner brought you down to hard facts, and the practical side of things. Money was sweet in any language, and though it couldn't turn "the Turtle" into an Adonis, it could do plenty for the Foster sisters!

INTEREST REPORT MADE BY BUC HEAD

COLUMBUS, June 4—Herschel C. Atkinson, retiring administrator of the state bureau of unemployment compensation, told Gov. John W. Bricker in a report made public today "it is probable that interest to be paid on our trust fund in 1943 (about $6,500,000) will exceed the amount required to meet all benefit payments during the year."

Hugh Jenkins, now chairman of the state board of tax appeals, will succeed Atkinson June 16 when the latter becomes industrial manager of the Akron, Canton & Youngstown railroad.

In a final report, Atkinson said Ohio's reserve on deposit in the federal treasury totaled $300,049,220 as of May 15, as compared with $192,126,871 on March 2, 1939, when Atkinson took office on Bricker's appointment.

"Ohio's reserve," wrote Atkinson, "is sufficient to pay every insured worker in Ohio 50 per cent of maximum benefits. Or, stated another way, if one-half of the total employed working force were laid off simultaneously, the bureau has sufficient funds to pay maximum benefits to all those unemployed."

"Another matter of great pride to us," Atkinson continued, "lies in the fact that Ohio was able for 1942 to give business and industry the lowest average unemployment compensation tax for any state or territory, with two exceptions—Delaware and Hawaii. Neither of the latter two can be considered as comparable industrial commonwealths."

Ohio's 1942 unemployment compensation tax rate averaged 1.2 per cent of taxable payrolls, compared to 1.7 in Michigan, 1.8 in Indiana and 2.7 in Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania.

"Ohio has developed one of the strongest reserves among the states to meet the impact of potential post-war unemployment," Atkinson said.

LOS ANGELES—The war is driving large numbers of women all over the United States into the real estate business, according to Carol V. Laux of St. Louis, chairman of the Women's National Council of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Real estate boards all over the country, she states show an ever-increasing number of women members as men take over war work or service.

Survivors of Navy Vessels
Sunk In Action Want
Crack At Axis

By JOHN R. HENRY
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

ABOARD A DESTROYER, with the Atlantic Fleet—Half the men serving in this brand new man-o-war had their ships shot out from under them, and today they bespeak revenge.

They call themselves "survivor sailors." Many bear the scars of battle. All give the impression they have a personal score to settle with the Axis.

From Navy ships sunk in action, they came directly to this heavily gunned destroyer, looking forward only to the day that they can repay the enemy a full deadly measure of shot, shell and torpedoes.

Many From the Duncan
Some formerly were aboard the ill-fated destroyer, O'Brien, others in the cruiser Quincy and the tanker Neosha. Most of the group, however, came from the gallant destroyer Duncan.

The captain of their new ship, Commander E. B. Taylor, was skipper of the Duncan when she rode to a flaming, shell-shattered death, delivering a torpedo attack against a Japanese battle line.

It was not fate alone that collected his band of war-wise destroyer men. Commander Taylor explained how he pleaded to keep together as many of the Duncan survivors as possible to man a new ship.

Men off the Duncan, consequently, formed a nucleus of the personnel that would serve in this stout, 2,100-ton "tin can."

Commander Is Happy

With "survivor sailors" off the Duncan and other sunken ships, serving under him, Commander Taylor seems as happy as a base-ball manager who directs an out-field of 400 hitters and an all-star pitching staff.

"The men off the Duncan and those other ships that went down," he said, "are looking for another crack at the enemy."

"And, believe me, they know that war isn't any play. It's strictly serious business with them, and they've proved it. They have fought and worked almost 24 hours a day to get our new ship in commission," said the commander, a resident of 1141 Rice Avenue, Lima, O.

"That's surely the truth," commented Lieut. D. H. Boyd. "I've never seen fellows work any harder than our bunch. But you've got to remember that at least half of them are survivor sailors, and they aren't going to leave anything undone to get the ship in tip-top shape."

Lieut. Boyd, of Parkersburg, Va., was chief torpedoman in the Duncan. He was commended and promoted for firing the shots that hit and probably sank a Japanese heavy cruiser.

With reinforcing explosives, Boyd's successor as chief torpedoman, Anthony Papacoda of New Haven, Conn., said his ambition is to see another Jap ship heel over and die from the torpedoes of this new destroyer. Then he added:

"But we're not the fellows who ought to have our names in the paper. You ought to mention those men who didn't come back."

From gunners to ship's cooks they of the Duncan feel as one—that the Japs must "pay through the nose."

Emery Cutler, Jr., ship's cook third class, has not forgotten either, how one off the other cooks was killed in the battle. "We were baking bread," Cutler said, "and no war, the men have to eat."

Tried to Salvage Ship

Freeman, third class, Donald DeOnofrio of New Haven, Conn., did not want to talk about the Duncan's plight. "She's gone now," he said. "What's the use of saying anything about her. This ship will make up for her loss if we have anything to do with it." DeOnofrio was named by fellow blue-jackets from the fire rooms of the Duncan, unconscious from the repercussion of exploding shell.

All of the "survivor sailors" felt the same way. Ensign W. B. Auckland of Fairfield, Ia., told how the men of the O'Brien tried vainly to salvage their ship after it had been torpedoed in the vicinity where the aircraft carrier, Wasp, was hit.

Third class gunner, Franklin Linn, 11534 Byron Street, Detroit, Gunners Mate C. E. Larzelere, 6832 James street, Drexel Hill, Pa., and First Class Seaman Charley Hunt, of Hendersonville, N. C., figure none less than two Jap destroyers for one will be sufficient to avenge the loss of the O'Brien. Lieut. R. R. Carter of Wassau, N. Y., whose leg was punctured by shrapnel, survived the sinking of the cruiser Quincy off Guadalcanal.

"If we sink a couple of their cruisers with this destroyer, I'll be reconciled to the Quincy's loss," he said.

Indians, Natives Unaware
Of War Around the Globe

(By United Press)
LA PAZ, Bolivia—The Rev. Gerardo Grondin of Westbrook, Me., a Maryknoll missionary, plunged deep into South American wilderness to learn that the term "global war" is, at best, a mild overstatement.

Journeying by canoe down the Acre (Aquiri) river in the remote rubber country that divides Bolivia and Brazil, Father Grondin was startled to learn that thousands of his Indian parishioners, whom he was meeting for the first time, did not know the world is at war.

Still more incredible was the fact that many had never heard of the United States and few of Father Grondin's parishioners, though born to the Catholic faith, had even seen a priest until he came among them.

Restricting the use of iron and steel in wood furniture is saving about 22,000 tons of metals for war use annually.

U.S. Army Makes Outpost
In Ancient Spanish Fort

FORT SAN LORENZO, Canal Zone—This ancient fort, built in 1575 during the reign of Phillip II of Spain at the mouth of the Chagres river, today is the oldest bastion to be occupied by American soldiers anywhere in the world.

It does not have anything like its ancient importance, however, for it is simply an infantry outpost in a big organization under the command of Lieut. Col. Harry L. Mayfield, of Prescott, Ariz. But the men stationed there have a keen pride in the old, partially destroyed structure and under the direction of Lieut. A. J. Widmer, of Connelville, Pa., have spent weeks of spare time in clearing away the encroaching jungle and bringing the beautiful lines of the ancient fortress into view.

Every Man a Guide
Every man on the post is a guide. They know the story of how Henry Morgan, "Gentleman Pirate" hammered down a portion of the walls in 1671 on his way to sack Panama. They can show you the 30-foot leap from the walls to the rocks around which the Caribbean sea surges, and where legend tells of a Spanish princess who leaped to death rather than submit to dishonor.

Without a pause, they can tell you of how Sir Edward Vernon, the British admiral, kicked in the walls again in the early 18th century and they remind you that it was Admiral Vernon after whom the ancestral home of George Washington was named.

Miners Swarmed By
"Yes," added Pvt. R. W. Etienne, of Dayton, O., who had just come off sentry duty, "and Lawrence Washington, brother of our George, was here with the admiral. It was when he was on this foray that he contracted the tropical fevers that later proved fatal."

It was past this same old fort that the "forty-niners" swarmed to the Chagres River to the Pacific side on their way to the gold fields of California.

But since 1850 it had been left to the jungle until American soldiers started the hobby of cleaning it up, cutting the thick growth from the walls and moats and replacing the rusted cannon which had fallen from their mounds.

BOOST BEEF POINTS:
URGE USE OF PORK

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Steaks will cost from one to three more points a pound beginning Sunday.

The Office of Price Administration, seeking to divert American appetites to pork, lamb, veal and variety meats, has announced a general increase in point values of preferred beef cuts such as steaks and roasts.

Fewer points will be required for numerous items of lamb, veal and variety meats, while pork values generally remain unchanged. OPA hopes, however, that the housewife will regard pork as a better buy than heretofore because of the higher points for beef.

Except for chuck or shoulder steaks, upped one point a pound, the ration value of all steaks was increased three points. Round steak will require 12 points a pound, compared with 10 points for pork tenderloin.

The point juggling, according to OPA, adds up to this: Those who buy more lamb, pork and veal and variety cuts will be able to maintain their weekly meat consumption at present levels, but those who insist on beef will have to eat less of it.

Pork now is coming to market in relatively greater quantities than beef, OPA said, and the civilian demand for beef has made it impossible for the armed services to obtain their full requirements.

Administrator Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., reported lend-lease meat exports in the January-April period totaled 577,300,000 pounds, pork leading with 493,000,000 pounds. Lamb and mutton totaled 54,600,000 pounds.

JAPS BOMBED WITH
PINEAPPLE JUICE
SEATTLE, June 4.—First Lieut. John T. McChesney, back from 44 months of aerial action in Australia, chuckles as he tells how a green bomber crew, in its first taste of fire, dropped cots, mosquito nets and fruit juice on a Japanese ship.

He wears the Distinguished Flying Cross for that first raid, a medium bomber mission to Rabaul, New Britain.

"We were 60 miles from Rabaul when we located a Jap transport and decided to stay and drop our load on it," he told a Post-Intelligence reporter yesterday.

"We were so darned inexperienced that we tried the recognition procedure on the ship, flying low and flashing our lights. It was silly; the transport couldn't have been anything but Japanese, and it answered them with 1,000 rounds of tracer fire.

"We made three runs. On the first, the bombardier opened the wrong doors and threw out our cots, mosquito nets and pineapple juice. On the second he was so excited by the tracers that he didn't drop anything. On the third he unloaded all the bombs and the bomb bay gasoline tank, too. We rolled the ship around a bit, but didn't score a direct hit."

But the crew learned fast. McChesney said that when he left Australia in May his ship was the only one remaining intact out of the original unit of 60 that started for Australia in April, 1942.

movement." Castillo assigned Gen. Rodolfo Marquez to combat the movement with "forces of repression" made up of men loyal to his conservative regime and "policy of prudence" in world affairs.

(Port authorities in Montevideo, capital of neighboring Uruguay, were ordered to be on the lookout for an Argentine navy gunboat being used by Castillo and other members of his government to flee.

Hits "Neutral" Policy
(A Montevideo dispatch said conflicting reports from Buenos Aires left the impression that the movement against Castillo was aimed at reversal of Argentina's foreign and domestic policy, which has left her as the only neutral nation to maintain relations with the Axis.)

A force led by Gen. Arturo Rawson struck swiftly into the heart of Buenos Aires after a 15-mile march from Campo de Mayo.

Socialist Deputy Alfredo Palacios said the force numbered 8,000 men at the start and police said other army men presumably were picked up en route.

Details dropped off to engage government forces at a naval mechanics school in the suburbs. One or two persons were reported killed there and many others were injured.

The main body of Rawson's detachment moved into Buenos Aires and seized police headquarters. The troops divided into several columns near the Plaza Flores, which is about four miles from the government house.

MEDITERRANEAN "INVASION AREA"

Sector Feverish With Activities; Allies Pressing Gains

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Again today Allied headquarters in North Africa report naval bombardments of the pint-size but powerful Italian island of Pantelleria, which the National Geographic society aptly describes as the cork in the Mediterranean bottle-neck between Sicily and Tunisia.

Shelling of this fortress is taken by the continent as further substantiation of the belief occupation of the island is imminent. This is on the basis that such bombardment often is the final step—though not necessarily in preparation for such an operation.

In any event, it's true that the Mediterranean is feverish with signs of approach invasions. Not only Pantelleria but the great island of Sicily, which forms one side of the bottle-neck, and neighboring Sardinia, also have been so thoroughly sown with bombs that it shouldn't be long before they are ready to bring forth fruit.

Convoys Reported

Along with these activities, Spain has further reports of movements of great United Nations convoys in the western end of the Mediterranean and this naturally gives a fillip to Axis speculation. As a matter of fact there's no particular reason to doubt the reports about convoys since such fleets can't be hidden, and it's significant that Allied ships are able to sail those troublous waters without undue interference.

It's quite possible that Allied strategy may contemplate the occupation of Pantelleria before proceeding with invasion of Sicily, Sardinia and perhaps the Italian mainland. The reason would lie in the fact that Pantelleria, which for size is only a pin-point on the map of Allied progress, is a mighty dot strategically.

This cocky little island, which contains only 32 square miles, stands right in the middle of the eastern mouth of the 90-mile wide channel between Tunisia and Sicily, and is in position to raise hob with Allied shipping. All our vessels must go through this narrow, shallow channel and run the gauntlet of Pantelleria's big guns.

Invasion of Sicily will be no child's play, and the Allies need absolute freedom of movement in the channel if and when that operation begins. Therefore it wouldn't be surprising to see a preliminary move to dispose of Pantelleria.

The "Italian Malta"
This volcanic knob in the Mediterranean is sometimes called the Italian Malta, which is by way of being a back-handed tribute to England's powerful naval and air base on the island of Malta, lying a little to the southeast of Pantelleria. Mussolini fortified his possession heavily in 1937 in order to counter Malta.

Pantelleria's crest is volcanic and, while this keeps quiet, it still tells the word of hidden fires by emitting steam and producing hot springs. It has a steep coast and possesses only one good harbor, and it's this which Allied warships have been shelling the past few days, presumably softening it up for eventual attack.

It's well that we should be acquainted with Pantelleria, because it really is an important item in Allied calculations for that area's strategic value has been recognized for thousands of years, and it was fought for by the ancient Romans and Carthaginians.

Not that it really matters much to the present operations, but scientists tell us that prehistoric tribes of neolithic men lived on this island. So Pantelleria is wise in the ways of all sorts of war.

TOLEDO WORKERS RETURN TO JOBS

TOLEDO, June 4.—Normal production was resumed today at one Toledo war plant, a labor official promised to end a work stoppage at a second, and the regional War Labor board ordered employees of a third concern to return to their jobs at once.

A one-day stoppage at the National Supply Co. ended last night as 100 employees reported back to work. Company officials had attributed the walkout to grievance and said one department was forced to shut down.

The regional War Labor board ordered more than 220 CIO United Automobile Workers to end a stoppage at the Toledo Steel Products Co., a subsidiary of the Thompson Products Co., Cleveland. Frederick H. Bullen, disputes director of the regional WLB, said the board would not act on a company-union controversy unless the employees returned to work.

Joseph G. Melner, president of the unaffiliated International Die Sinkers conference, agreed to end a walkout at the Willys-Overland Co. A work stoppage involving 27 die makers and 14 other die room employees developed after the International Association of Machinists, which has a maintenance of membership agreement with the company, suspended one of its members because he had allegedly solicited members in the die sinkers conference.

The 41 die workers walked out May 24 when it was reported the company had discharged the employee.

Meanwhile, 90 employees continued their walkout at the Burt Foundry Co., where officials said they knew no reason for the stoppage and declared the concern had been negotiating a contract with the UAW. Frank C. Schmidt, president of the Liberty Highway Co., reported 150 AGL Drivers and Dockmen remained away from their jobs at the firm's warehouses in Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and Indiana.

CHAPLIN IS NAMED IN PATERNITY SUIT

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—Movie Comedian Charlie Chaplin was under court order today to answer charges, contained in a civil suit, that he is the father of 22-year-old Joan Berry's unborn child.

The action was filed yesterday by Mrs. Gertrude Berry of New York, whose auburn-haired and brown-eyed daughter declares Chaplin promised her a film career but permitted a $75-weekly contract to expire last October, before she had appeared in anything but camera test shots.

The suit petitions that Chaplin be named father of the child and ordered to pay $2,500 monthly, beginning immediately, for its support, as well as $10,000 for Miss Berry's medical care and $5,000 for court and attorney's costs. It states that Chaplin and Miss Berry have never been married, and that he denies paternity.

JAP'S NICKNAME TRICK IS FAILURE

Aboard Special Medical Train Enroute To An Army Hospital In The Northwest Area, June 4.—Pfc. Barly R. (Pop) Poffenberger of Bowling Green, O., told today how the Japs on Attu had a trick if picking up nicknames and using them to lure unwary soldiers into their gunfire.

Poffenberger suffered a chest concussion when a Jap mortar shell exploded 30 feet from him, knocking him against a rock while his outfit was storming a barren hill on which the foe was entrenched.

"The Japs had machine guns all over the place," he recalled. "They had a trick, too, of picking up nicknames. They learned mine, and one of them hollered, 'Hey, Pop, come on over here.' I went, but not the way he figured I would. I dropped on top of him and finished him off with my rifle butt."

brick in the furnace broken. He said "Urich looked bad for me, first time I see him and he talked to me, didn't like me from the beginning."

"I met them again early in April and Frank say he will pay me the rent April 22, but when I go there on April 23, he say 'no. I'm the boarder, you talk to Mrs. Porter.' She say 'I no pay rent to nobody' and then she push me out the gate and on up the path beating me with her fists."

Serves Removal Notice
On April 27, Redmelovich stated, he served a three-day removal notice on Mrs. Porter. The next time he came to the Porter home was on the morning of May 5 when he went to the garage to get his garden tools, he stated. "I came in, and thought they were sleeping so I went on to the garage, then when I heard the radio start playing, I thought that if they were up I would ask her about the rent. I went to the door and knocked and then stepped back four or five feet. Mrs. Porter came to the door and I said 'are you going to pay the rent?'"

"She said, 'no I'm not going to pay no rent' and at that moment Frank came in and pushed her back. He was fixing his sleeves up, saying, 'I'm going to kill this fellow, he will not keep away from my yard.' I said, 'I rent to Mrs. Porter and I have taxes to pay, and Urich say, 'this is my wife, I'm the boss.'"

Continuing, Redmelovich said, "he (Urich) came out from the door with fists raised. I got scared and ran to the garage and told him to keep away from me. He say for me to get out he was going to kill me, he was looking bad like a wild animal, and he say 'I'm going to fix you up.' I was afraid of him. I'm sick and couldn't run or go over the fence. At this moment he was ready to jump on me and I fired the gun." Redmelovich is said to have procured the gun when he ran back to the garage.

FOUNDATION GETS FORD MOTOR STOCK

Motor Co. President's Will Probated; Tax Estimates Are Reduced

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, June 4.—The will of Edsel Bryant Ford was filed for probate yesterday and, because it bequeathed the greater part of his Ford Motor company stock to the Ford Foundation, attorneys estimated estate inheritance and transfer taxes might not amount to much more than $12,000,000. Earlier reports, based solely upon conjecture, had placed the possible tax at as much as $200,000,000.

Attorneys said the estate itself probably would amount to $200,000,000.

Edsel Ford, only son of Henry Ford and late president of the Ford Motor Co. died last week at the age of 49.

The Ford Foundation, a non-profit corporation, was organized in 1936 for educational and other purposes. Gifts to organizations of its type are not taxable.

That portion of the Ford stock not bequeathed to the foundation is left in equal shares to Mrs. Eleanor Clay Ford, the widow, and each of the four children—Henry Ford II, Benson Ford, Mrs. Walter Buhl Ford II and William Clay Ford. The widow is made executrix.

The Ford Motor Co. is capitalized at $100,000,000—20,000,000 shares at $5 a share, of which but 3,452,900 shares were outstanding as of September 1, 1942. Ninety-five per cent of the company stock, known as "Class A," is non-voting; five per cent, known as "Class B," is voting stock.

Latest available data indicate Henry Ford held 55 per cent of the stock; Edsel Ford 41½ per cent and Mrs. Henry Ford 3½ per cent. Each held "Class B" stock in proportion to his or her holding of "Class A" stock.

Edsel also owned or controlled a majority of the stock in the Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit. This bank stock as well as the family estate on Lake Shore road, Grosse Pointe Shores, and all the deceased personal effects are left to the widow.

All other real estate in Michigan held by Edsel Ford and several other pieces of property to go to the foundation, while a mansion at Seal Harbor, Maine, the White Hart inn in New Hampshire and a residence in Florida are left to Mrs. Edsel Ford.

PLANES INCREASE GOODS FOR CHINA

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Wings over the Himalayas soon will equal in effectiveness the delivery of military supplies by way of the Burma road—but the allies still want the Burma road back.

Sources that cannot be quoted reported today that on the basis of information direct from China cargo planes now are flying army goods from India in a gross tonnage amounting to about one-third of that which was trucked over the highway before it fell to the Japanese.

In a month or so they will be carrying nearly two-thirds of the Burma road monthly average. And that, it was explained, will mean virtual replacement of the old Burma road volume as far as military value is concerned because it's all army supplies now, whereas much of the old trucks shipments were commercial goods. It was made clear nevertheless that the Burma road is regarded as vital to the Allies as a supplementary route for guns, ammunition, bombs and plane supplies to be used against the Japanese. Much more can be expected of the air transport system, it was said, when the present problem of inadequate airfields is overcome.

Gold Bars Blank Strains, Bliss Is Victor Over Demings

H. SHEPARD TURNS IN GOOD TWIRLING JOB IN A CIRCUIT

Slovaks Beat Presbyterians, 27 to 1, In Unique Class B Tilt

Two more or less air tight games marked action in Class A league competition last night, much in contrast with performances in Class B, which were decidedly on the loose.

Hurling three-hit ball and ably supported by his teammates, H. Shepard twirled the Gold Bars to a 5-0 victory over the Strains while Bliss was winning from Demings, 4 to 1.

The Slovaks in Class B hung up what may be a season's record when they utterly swamped the Presbyterians, 27 to 1, while the Twin Beauties, also on a rampage, downed the Friends, 12 to 2.

The Gold Bar lads punched in all their runs in the one inning, the second, and that was all the scoring there was for the evening. J. Garlock, Dominetti and Morrison collected two bingles each.

The Bliss club scored one run in the opening frame and clinched the game with three in the fifth. The Demings rallied in the seventh and scored one run before they were turned back. Nocera had a good night of four at the plate.

Ten errors were charged against the Presbyterians in their affair with the Slovaks, who collected 24 hits.

The Twin Beauty club scored in every inning save the fifth against the Friends. Donofrio and Martelli collected three hits apiece.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, June 4.—With or without Yonkers Haegs, this year's national A. A. U. track and field championships are attracting plenty of interest. Dan Ferris, the A. A. U. secretary-treasurer, says the entries are "surprisingly good" and comments that he's had letters from a great many service men or boys who expect to be called soon saying that they'd like to compete. If you hear someone holler, "my old man could lick your old man" in the Madison Square garden ring tonight, it'll be Bobby Ruffin and Terry Young. Both of their fathers were pro fighters. Bobby's dad fought as Teddy Hubbs and Terry's dad also was Terry Young. And Chalky Wright and Phil Terranova, who clash in the main bout, both come from families of eleven children. Any crap shooter could tell you that makes their scrap a natural.

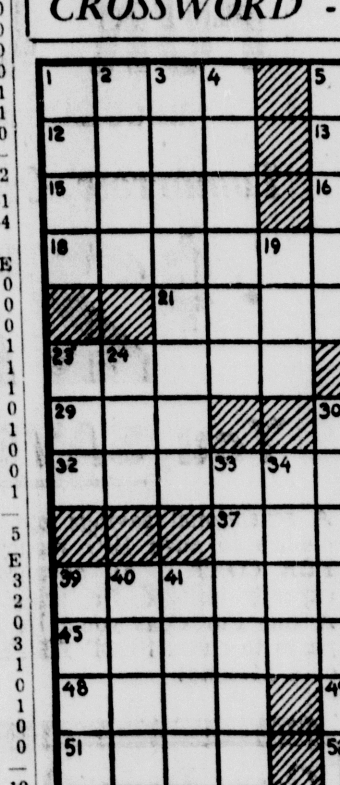

SHORTS AND SHELLS
One reason why Greg Rice didn't enter tomorrow's metropolitan senior track meet is a bad case of shin splints he picked up training on concrete roads and a hard high school track. The same factors that led to the shifting of the Saratoga and Empire city race meetings will influence Gov. Dewey's decision on whether harness racing can be held at Goshen and elsewhere.

CONZELMANIA
The Browns have hired Conzelman.
To lift 'em from a slump. And now their batting averages are sure to take some jumps. For at the plate the rotund James Is always a sensation. He never fails to get a hit. With a Conzelman oration.

SERVICE DEPT.
Lieut. Fred Frankhouse, former big league fliker, is organizing a baseball team at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., with Pvt. Dick Fitzgerald, ex-Fordham athlete, as his assistant coach. Ray Tendler, Lew's son who is stationed at Fort Meade, Md., played football and basketball at Penn State college but didn't try for the boxing team. Probably there weren't any Benny Leonards around there for him to fight. Lieut. Larry Steffenhagen, who did the blocking for Whizzer White at Colorado U., now is testing planes for Uncle Sam at the Philadelphia navy yard. He holds the Navy cross and D. F. C.

Red Birds, Cards to Play
COLUMBUS, June 4.—The Columbus Red Birds, little world series champs, will meet the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals in a home exhibition game Aug. 9. Red Bird president, Al Banister, announced. Other exhibitions on the Birds' slate are: Great Lakes naval training station at St. Louis July 19 and Camp Grant, Ill. service squad at Camp Grant Aug. 16.

CARROLLTON CLUB IS SCHEDULED FOR PLACENTIA SUNDAY

Rained Out Last Sunday. Locals Book Strong Foe For Lid-Lifter

Rained out in their scheduled opener against the Cuyahoga Falls Moose last Sunday, the Lake Placencia baseball club will try again on the North Georgetown diamond Sunday afternoon, opposing the Carrollton Merchants in a single contest slated to get under way at 3.

Listed as their most bitter rivals, Carrollton will bring a strong club to the Placencia diamond, having downed Cuyahoga Falls 5-2 in their season's debut. Either Cliff Minor or Ira Miller will open on the hill for the invaders with Ralph Jackson doing the receiving. An infield consisting of Paul Leatherberry on first, Bill Leatherberry on second, Dent Locke on short and Knew Knight on third and an outfield of Dave Keister, Vic Duval and John Campbell will get the call with Harv Sickles and Pip Fawcett slated for utility roles.

Manager Joe Schwartzhoff of the Lakers has nominated Earl Branfield, former Alliance High ace and more recently a member of the Georgetown university varsity as his starting pitcher with Bus Simpson back of the bat. Stratton on first, either Groves or Stanley on second, Carl on short with Schwartzhoff himself on third will round out the Lake Placencia infield with Ted Schwartzhoff, Red Miller and Close comprising the outfield will open for the home nine.

Changes Are Asked By Track Coaches

As a result of recommendations of the Ohio Association of Track Coaches at a recent meeting in Columbus, it is possible that there will be a readjustment of entries in the district qualifying meets which precede the state event at Columbus annually.

Faculties Manager Fred Cope and Track Coach Ray Overturf of Salem attended the sessions.

It was pointed out that 18 Class A teams were entered in the qualifier at Salem whereas there were only five at Mansfield, yet each meet sent the same number of athletes to the state competition.

It was recommended also by the coaches that the first, second and third place winners be qualified, as was the former custom, instead of only first and second, as at present.

The track coaches also believe they should share in expense money distribution. They point out that inasmuch as district baseball winners are handed a bonus of $50 there is no reason why track squads, going to the state meet, should not so benefit.

Cope was appointed to four of the nine committees of the Ohio association, including executive, publicity, honor roll and officials and officiating.

BOWLING NEWS

Mullins Bowling league swung into action last night at the Salem Bowling Center, with the clubs going back to the point system of scoring, instead of chucking up straight wins and losses.

Under the point plan, each game counts a point and total pins another.

Under this system the Indians and the Cardinals split even last night. The Indians copped two games but the Cards had high total pins which gave them two and two.

The Giants registered four straight against the Cubs while the Tigers copped two games and high total count against the Yankees.

American League Scramble Proving Wide Open Affair

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.
The National league is having a two-horse race for the pennant—and it's a good show the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals are giving the fans.

But the really wide-open scramble is in the American league, where the sixth place club is closer to the lead than is the third club in the National. Furthermore, it wouldn't take much to make all eight clubs contenders.

The New York Yankees have been showing the way except for one lapse ever since the season started, yet they have not convinced anybody that they are a real good ball club.

Certainly they have not convinced Luke Sewell, manager of the last place St. Louis Browns, whom the Yanks beat yesterday 2-1 when Bob Muncie forced home the deciding run in the ninth inning with a walk.

It was the 12th loss in 15 games for the Browns and eight of the defeats have been by one run and another by a shutout. Even with all their troubles, the Browns are only seven games behind the Yanks.

After yesterday's game Sewell was miserable. "The only place close ones count is in horse shows," he moaned. "If we get a few hits we'll be up there. If we don't get a few hits I'll go nuts."

TIGERS Beat Senators
Detroit scored seven runs in a big eighth inning of a night game at Washington to subdue the Senators 8-2 and the result of this was to expand the Yankees' margin over second place to a full game, but to hold their distance over

INDIANS LOSE TO ATHLETICS, 10-4
Cleveland Now Half Game Out of Seventh Place. Standings Show

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—The Cleveland Indians could console themselves with one fact today. Yesterday's 10 to 4 defeat by the Philadelphia Athletics—their ninth in 11 seaboard engagements—pushed them below the fifth-place Chicago White Sox and left them only a half-game out of seventh place.

Al Smith will attempt to break the monotony when he hurls tonight against Orrie Arntzen.

The Macknens staged the heaviest attack of the season against Cleveland pitchers, Chubby Dean, an erstwhile Athletic, and Joe Heving were slugged for two triples, seven doubles and nine singles. Every man in the lineup connected at least once. The Athletics' Don Black, a right-hander up from the Virginia league, doled out nine hits.

Philadelphia opened the scoring in the fourth with a five-run blast that chased Dean and brought in Heving. Heving gave up another marker in the seventh and was slugged for four more in the eighth.

Hank Edwards' return to the lineup was short-lived. The center fielder re-injured his right wrist swinging at a pitch in the sixth and was knocked out in the bottom half of the same inning when he collided with Jeff Heath.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Of 273 former University of Michigan athletes in the nation's armed forces, three have been reported killed in action. They were Lt. Alan Smith, Paw Paw, Mich., a former sprinter; Lt. Paul Gorman, Hempstead, N. Y., another track star, and Lt. Lynn Reiss, Detroit, a letter winner in golf.

HALF-MILE RACE TOPS A. A. U. CARD

(By United Press)
COLUMBUS, June 4.—The half-mile run shaped up today as one of the hottest contests booked for the Ohio A. A. U. championships at Ohio State university stadium tomorrow.

The 125 entries reported by Dr. W. D. Heintz, meet manager, included Less Elsenhart, winner of the half-mile the past three years. Elsenhart, a former Ohio State luminary and now track coach at Port Clinton, also will seek his seventh straight title in the mile run.

Competing with Elsenhart in the half-mile will be Ohio State Johnny Jones, Miami's Robert Blaney and Syl Stewart and Bill Alapach, state high school Class A and Class B champions, respectively. Stewart is from Toledo Waite and Alapach from Canal Winchester.

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Jumping seems to be in the blood of Jim Milne, Michigan State college track star. Milne, who holds the college record with a 6 foot, 6½ inch high jump, enters the armed forces on graduation—as a paratrooper.

Pittsburgh Pirates pounded out a 9-6 victory over the New York Giants for Truett (Rip) Sewell, who now has won six and lost just one game. The triumph enabled the Pirates to hold third place, 4½ games out of the lead, by a shade in the percentages over the Cincinnati Reds, who beat the Boston Braves 7-4 in a night game.

AVERAGE BUDGET TO BE OVERHAULED

NEWARK, N. J., June 4 — The budget of the average American family is due for an overhauling by the end of this year, when Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau says each family should be investing one-fourth of its income in war savings bonds if it is to carry its share of the war's financial burden. At the same time, a withholding tax of 20 per cent on salaries probably will be imposed, but the increased purchases of war bonds by individuals "is not too much to expect," he said yesterday at a press conference. The withholding tax, he pointed out, would be applied to income over and above exemptions and would in many cases be only a few per cent of the total income. For example, a man with a wife and two children would be allowed the exemption of $1,248 for a couple and $312 for each child, if his salary were $2,400, the withholding tax would apply only to the remainder and would be less than 4 1/2 per cent of the $2,400. The withholding tax is to become effective July 1 if President Roosevelt approves legislation imposing it which now is before him. Launching a nationwide streamlining of the war bond sales campaign machinery, Morgenthau said the treasury expects "a little resistance" in bond sales when the withholding tax became effective, but that it felt this would melt away when the situation was better understood. "Of the 45 billions still necessary to complete our war financing needs for 1943," he said, "at least 18 billions, or almost 25 per cent of the national income for the remainder of the year, should come from purchases of bonds by individuals."

LIQUOR SUPPLIES DECLARED NORMAL

NEW YORK, June 4. — Allied Liquor Industries, Inc., today announced that a study of liquor supplies throughout the country disclosed normal stocks now aging in bonded warehouses were adequate to last three to four years on a rationed basis. The concern, a trade organization representing both distilleries and consumer outlets, said consumers would have available in the next 12 months about 130,000,000 gallons of distilled spirits, plus inventories of wholesalers, retailers and taverns estimated in excess of 25,000,000 gallons and hoarded stocks placed at 10,000,000 gallons. This total of more than 165,000,000 gallons available was contrasted with actual consumption of 157,000,000 gallons in 1941.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—The patriotic spirit of Ethan Allen, Revolutionary War hero, still holds sway even to the sixth generation. Miss Eva Belle Campbell, sixth generation descendant of Ethan Allen, has enlisted in the Army Nurse Corps and been assigned to the Santa Maria Army Air base.

KNOW YOUR FOODS... by Mary Bell

GREAT CHANGES ARE COMING OVER FOOD BUYING AS WOMEN DISCOVER THAT YOU CAN'T JUDGE FOODS MERELY BY PRICE—FOR EXAMPLE, NU-MAID, A FINE "TABLE-GRADE" MARGARINE, IS AS DELICIOUS AS THE MOST EXPENSIVE SPREAD.

YET NU-MAID IS SO ECONOMICAL THAT IT CAN BE USED FREELY AS A SPREAD FOR THE CHILDREN'S AFTER-SCHOOL SNACKS, AND EVERYONE LOVES ITS MILD, SWEET, CHURNED-FRESH FLAVOR.

"TABLE-GRADE" NU-MAID IS 97% DIGESTIBLE AND IS RICH IN VITAMIN "A" (THE "PEP-UP" VITAMIN). IT IS A HIGH ENERGY FOOD. GET NU-MAID AT YOUR GROCER'S.
